Dear Sir/Madam

Journal of Digital Media Management, Volume 13

1. On payment by you of the licence fee, you are hereby licensed to access, copy, print, and download as electronic or hard copy, and transmit to other users (as defined in Clause 2 below) all and every part of the contents of the above journal and volume published by Henry Stewart Publications and supplied online via the journal's website and Ingenta.
2. This licence extends to all University of California, San Diego staff, faculty, students and alumni without geographic restriction, together with walk-in users.
3. Henry Stewart Publications will supply an invoice for the licence fee for each new volume following publication of the last issue of the preceding volume and this licence agreement will remain in force for as long as each of these licence fee invoices is paid.
4. In the event that the licence fee is not paid and therefore this licence is not renewed you may continue to access, copy and download as electronic or hard copy all and every part of the contents of the volume or volumes of the above journal published by Henry Stewart Publications for which you have paid the annual licence fee. In the event that a) HSP is not able to provide the licensee with continuing online access and b) the licensee request this of us, HSP will supply PDFs of the contents of the above journal and volumes for which you have paid the licence fee.
5. You may not (a) transfer your rights under this licence nor (b) permit access to the journal in whole or in part to any person not covered by 2 above.

I should be pleased if you would consider the above and if you agree with the contents, please sign two copies of this letter of agreement by way of acknowledgement and return one to me, retaining the other for your records.

Yours faithfully,

Publisher

We hereby agree and undertake in the terms set out above
